

How to Link

Friday, September 10th 2004

I have a question for everybody. How should I link to people's site from my site? should I (a) link to them use their site's name, or (b) link to them using their real name. Personally I'm leaning towards their real name, but I'd like to know what you all think.